THE END OF A HAM.

Here are some possibilities of a 50-cent ham (and string end); four meals for three persons.

First—Cut enough to parboil and brown, remove meat and add two tablespoons flour; stir until smooth, add one pint milk (or use half water), stir until it boils and it will be delicious.

Second—Cut some and fry with a little butter; when brown, remove and add potatoes which have been previously boiled.

Third—Boil the remainder and bone, put meat through grinder, add one egg, one cup bread crumbs, milk enough to make loaf. Put as many potatoes as wanted in casserole with water and seasoning; place loaf on top and bake.

Fourth—Add potatoes, turnips, cabbage or anything in vegetables, to stock in which ham was boiled and it will be a good dinner. Always remove most of the fat and use for other purposes.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

By putting first worn pillow slip on the pillow and covering with a better one, it gives the pillow a white appearance and the pillow stripe ticking does not show through, as when just one slip is used on the pillow.

Clothes Sprinkler—Take a catsup bottle with a top that will screw on. Then hammer small holes in the top. This will make a nice clothes sprinkler.

Old Potatoes—It will improve the looks and taste of old potatoes if they are left to stand in cold water for a few hours, or longer, before cooking, either pared or not pared.

To Keep Lettuce Crisp and Tender—Wrap each head separately in a piece of old linen wet in cold water. Moisten the linen every day and you can keep lettuce for two weeks. The inner leaves will be yellow and crisp and there will be no wasting of outer leaves.

Jam that has become hard and sugary can be made almost as good as new by placing in the oven until the sugar melts, then taking it out and leaving it to cool.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Do you think it is necessary to serve something when a boy comes to see you in the evening?

(2) Do you think it is necessary to serve something when another girl and two boys come?

(3) After inviting two boys to come to see me and a friend of mine, would it be proper for me to suggest that they take us to the picture show?

(4) I invited a boy over one evening and he said he would come. I got all ready for him and he didn't show up. My whole family teased me about it and I was very much ashamed. What do you think of a boy like that?

BLONDIE.

(1) If a girl serves something when a boy comes to see her he has reason to think that she is certainly interested in him or she would not go to so much trouble. It is bad policy to give an impression like that. When a boy feels a little bit anxious about a girl's attitude toward him, he himself is very much more interested.

(2) It is all right for a girl to serve something when there are four people.

(3) No. Entertain them at your home unless one of the boys suggests going to the picture show.

(4) The boy should not have accepted your invitation unless he expected to keep his engagement. He was certainly rude. Boys would rather ask the privilege to call upon a girl than to be invited to come at a certain time.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have blackheads badly. What can I do to get rid of them?

(2) What will reduce large pores?

BLUE EYES.

(1) Try the green soap treatment for a bad case of blackheads.

Let this mixture stay on only a few moments, then wash off with hot water. If the green soap irritates the skin, as it sometimes will, use it every other day. Apply a cold cream. Green soap may be purchased at any drug store. It is not the regular "cake soap," but is about the consistency of a custard. Open each seal with the point of a fine needle. The hardened mass must be pressed or picked out. The empty sac of the gland should be bathed with a little toilet vinegar and water, or with a very weak solution of carbolic acid and water. Sterilize the needle before using it by dipping into boiling water, as the use of any instrument unless cleansed is very dangerous.

(2) Alcohol or the following lotion will close the pores:

Boric acid, one dram; distilled water, four ounces. Apply with an old piece of linen or a bit of absorbent cotton.

Alcohol is very drying to the skin and if extensively used will cause wrinkles.

DOLORES.

If the young man likes you very well he will certainly seek your acquaintance and ask to call. Don't ask him to come to see you, because it might cause him to lose respect for you. You think about him all the time because you want to and do not exert the will power to stop. Really, unless you force yourself to stop thinking of him you will make yourself miserable.
